In addition to lous decrease in the total uniform the metal exchange there and the new one at Hamburg, but at Havre there is also one at Hamburg, but operations there have not been of more than about $2 a ton within the last few days, about $2 a ton within the last few days,

It was last October that the copper market commenced its gradual uphill climb to what her proved to be the highest level in five At that time standard warrants in London were quoted at £55 a ton, and the domestic market between 12 and 12% cents

As pointed out in these columns at the time, Henry R. Merton & Co. of London were largely instrumental in advancing the price. view of this fact that firm's summary of of situation, just at hand, regarding stocks in the interim becomes doubly interesting. The shrinkage during the five months up to the end of February was no less than 57,484 tons throughout the world, of which the greater part, the firm says, was refined copper. Confirmation of THE SUN'S per-sistent contention that refined stocks abroad were at a minimum appears in the further statement by Merton that "the stocks which are left in reserve contain now a much larger proportion of unrefined copper which is not available for the immediate use of manufacturers.

While American consumption has doubtless increased, as indicated by the recent heavy buying of copper, the full force of the domestic takings will not be known until the March statement of the Copper Producers Association becomes public on April s The enormous growth of the consuming industry in Europe has been responsible for the greater part of this depletion. The continued heavy buying power of the home manufacturers, however, has prevailed for more than a fortnight, which will have its effect later in statistics.

Although prices have been very low and with the prices they have been receiving. The Havre Metal Exchange has established itself, according to trade advices from France, with stocks approximating 5,000 tons of copper. It has been contended by some of the copper exporters that much of the metal taken for consignment to France recently has been for that organization, although it is known that the Franch france's largest competitor in the consumption of copper, been enjoying a tremendous business.

London, which for years has led, will doubtless hold first place as the centre of the west was very little profit in business at the old figures, it is thought that this record income will yield a very fair margin of profit, although not as good as in the corporation is a strong bidder for a very large amount of pending business in rails and structural steel. While the prices quoted by the corporation have been higher than some of the consumers cared to contract for, it is expected that pending orders will be booked within a few weeks and that the high rate of production and shipment will be continued throughout the next quarter without errors.

and it is expected that this subsidiary of the Steel Corporation will continue to get almost half of the total orders for the country, as hitherto.

The Baldwin Locomotive Works vesterday reported a number of contracts re-cently boked, including four lecomotives for the Bingham and Garfield and ten Other equipment orders include 80 steel cars for the Bingham and Garfield ordered from the Standard Steel Car Company, 50 coke cars for the Bethlehem Steel Company, 20 passenger cars for the Penn-sylvania from the American Car and Foundry Company, and other orders for passenger cars not specified by the Pennsylvania and Atchison from the Pullman Company.

The Gould lines will spend $1,200. 000 for cars and other equipment, of which a part has been ordered. Further orders will be placed in the near future.

Eastern consumers ordered about 20, 000 tons of various grades of pig iron in the last two days, of which the largest ply of copper since last October could be contract was for the Babcock and Wil-set forth no better than in the following cox Company for 5,000 tons of foundry grades.
